Benjammin

Jammin with BenJammin and Analisa Gauthier gives kids a chance to move, play and sing along with Educational Music. With songs like "The Safety Belt Song", "Keep in Shape" and "Dream, Love, Live", your kids will learn about health, safety, respect and science—all while having so much fun they won't even realize they are learning!! BenJammin and Analisa have performed their educational music at schools, museums, libraries and parties everywhere from Kalamazoo to New York to New Jersey and San Francisco. They can bring something special to every event. In each energized performance, they inspire children from the audience to sing along, dance, play instruments and even write new songs! With every new performance, BenJammin and Analisa get children excited about achieving goals, reading/writing, hygiene and safety all in a format to build confidence.

Thornapple Players

This year the Thornapple Players return to the Spray Plaza! Each year the Thornapple Players host a week long camp for local youth. Today the campers will be performing monologue excerpts from their summer performance and offering theatre games for all to enjoy.

John Ball Zoo

Let the Zoo come to you! Learn about wildlife in a hands-on learning experience with our zoo education staff at the Spray Plaza. The animals present will depend on their behavior and the weather that day. If the temperature is 90 degrees or above this event will be held at our rain location at the Barry Community Enrichment Center.

Thee Bluebeard

"From the far off harbors of Chicago comes THEE BLUEBEARD! Pirate captain and adventurer and looking for a crew. You may be that next crew member that he's looking for. Demonstrate your ability as a pirate and receive your conscription papers to join Thee Bluebeard as a real pirate! Bring your mom! Bring your brother! Bring all the kids! Even the ugly ones!

Earth Songs & Stories

With Janice Marsh-Prelesnik

7/16

Janice is the director and practitioner of Nurturing from the HeART, an expressive arts program that brings the joy of music and the arts to people of all ages!

Stormy the Magician

7/23

Come into Stormy the Magician's laboratory and be amazed! Find out the differences and similarities between Magic and Science.

Watch amazing experiments that involve the entire audience.

Heads will shrink. Balloons will fly. Electricity will crackle. A tornado will form right before your eyes and Bernoulli's amazing flying machine will be demonstrated.

This is not just an ordinary magic show. Instead, Stormy will explore scientific principals that explain why things go Pop, Fizz, and Fly.

Is it Magic or Science? Only you can tell.

Stormy's goal is to leave everyone in the audience saying.....WOW science is fun!

Zeemo the Yo-Yo Man

Over 20 years ago, Paul Kyprie started Zeemo Productions to develop a variety of shows, which he has been performing ever since throughout Michigan and Ohio. His shows are entertaining and exciting for all ages. A juggling champion and yo-yo expert, he performs skills that few others have taken the time to master. On top of that, his magical talent leaves children wondering in amazement.

Combine all this with a sense of humor that makes kids crack up hysterically and you have a recipe for the most successful program you can find.

Unsolicited Testimonial...

"The best darned yo-yo expert and juggler in Michigan, period!"

Mother Goose & More

Nancy Snell's fun, interactive programs keep young children entertained and engaged - while providing opportunities for growth in pre-literacy skills through rhyme and music.

Children interact with a professional storyteller and participate in the magic of costumes, music, and nursery rhymes.

With over 30 years of experience teaching, raising, caring for, and playing with young children, Nancy brings a wealth of fun and creativity to her programs. She understands that children delight in songs, rhymes, puppets, and "dress up" - and incorporates all of these elements into her "Mother Goose" show.

In 2002 a mysterious green iceberg was discovered by a band of unemployed pirates in Lake Michigan. Frozen inside were the Pickle Boys, cold solid in a chunk of sour brine. The DFPP were hoisted aboard, chiseled free and re-animated by the ships crude pirate scientist chef using a combination of spirits and pickle juice. As the DFPP awoke from their icy slumber they started singing and have never stopped. Where the Pickles came from and where they are going remains a mystery

From outhouse to henhouse to waffle house to public house both hither and yon the Pickles have caused a rafter-shaking ruckus wherever they roll, dreaming a hobo's knapsack of stories and songs along the way.

These Pickle fellers have wobbled their magical musical gypsy medicine wagon from one end of this here country to t'other, with stops including LOL-LAPALOOZA, WAKARUSA and TELLURIDE along the way.

From the great Depression to the Great Recession, the Pickles run the gamut of old timey styles, even grabbing an occasional 80's pop tune and turning it into a flap happy chicken scratchy 78 RPM tune. Armed with a Frankenstonian array of homemade monster instruments, their musical recipe is flavored with Jug Band, Hokum and Honkeytonk spices.

Kinsfolk

Performers throughout Michigan, Kinsfolk is a 3-5 player family and friends band doing great acoustic original, traditional and Americana folk music with the kind of sweetly blended harmony singing you'd expect from 3 sibs raised at folk festivals. Since 2003 this dynamic and original band has performed at many different venues including Wheatland's Kids Hill, The Detroit

Children's Museum, public libraries and parks, Buttermilk Jamboree, in churches, at summer camps and on college campuses.

Now these talented kids are all grown up and still love performing for audiences for all ages with their toe tapping and singalong arrangements of new and old tunes and songs. The players include Rachael on mandolin, viola, fiddle and vocals, Josh on guitar, uke, mandolin and percussion, Ethan on trumpet, harmonica and percussion and Deborah on autoharp, harmonica and percussion. Welcomed as well, family friend and singer-songwriter Rachel Varley on vocals and ukulele.

Tunes n Tales by Tricia

Tricia was born into a family where music and storytelling was a way of life. With 30 years of teaching experience in early childhood classrooms and Gladys the Guitar by her side, Tunes n Tales by Tricia seemed to be the next natural choice. Her back- to -back degrees in child development and early literacy prepared her well for the kind of future that would lead her to train children, parents, and teachers in music, movement , and the connections to literacy. Her educational model is fully participatory, and it is immediately noticeable when you witness a Tunes n Tales performance. She does not perform FOR her audience as much as she performs WITH them! Children and families are at once engaged with her comfortable and interactive style from the start.

In July 2010, Tricia released her first CD, "Hard Rock Candy Mountain". By March of 2011, it had won the DOVE AWARD and the CREATIVE CHILD AWARD OF EXCELLENCE. The next CD was released in May of 2012 and was titled UKE ARE ALL MY FRIENDS! featuring many of Tricia's closest friends and family, as well as her new friend "Luke the Uke".

EVENING ENTERTAINMENT 6:30 - 8:00 PM

Northern Fires

6/11

The Northern Fires is a singing duo from Kalamazoo, MI formed in 2014 consisting of Noah Nigg (vocals, guitar, keyboards) and Laurie Laing (vocals, percussion). The Northern Fires sound is heavily influenced by folk, classic R&B and pop with a heavy emphasis on intricate harmonies. The group is currently working on an album at La Luna Recording and Sound in Kalamazoo. The album is set to be released this year.

Thornapple Valley Strings

Come enjoy the old fashioned, toe tapping, back to the roots sound of the Thornapple Valley Strings. If you cannot get enough of bluegrass, folk, country, fiddle tunes, and gospel then this is the group for you! Players are Ken and Judy Moore (vocals, rhythm guitar and standup bass), Bob Burghdoff (fiddle) and Orville Harrington (dobro, mandolin, fiddle and vocals). Together they have been playing for approximately 6 years.

The Thornapple Valley Strings play because they love live music.

Jenny LaJoye

Jenny LaJoye is a folk pop singer/songwriter from Hastings, MI. She has an eclectic musical background, which lends itself to a unique, home-grown sound and style of writing. Sometimes driven by guitar, piano, mandolin, violin, or just a single drum, Jenny tries to push out the borders of conventional genres. Although she has been writing music since high school, her career started to take wing in West Michigan after returning from a college semester in Nashville, TN and releasing her first EP, "We've Been That Way Before." That EP earned her the 2015 WYCE Listener's Choice Jammie Award for Album of the Year. With her career, Jenny hopes to love people by creating as much beauty as possible out of the shared experiences of pain, grief, joy, and love...and encouraging others to do the same.

Official Thieves

The Official Thieves are a trio featuring Guitar/Vocalist - Ben Erhart, Bassist - Mark O'Connor and Drummer - Matt Larghi. Influenced by the blues-rock sound of the late 60's and early 70's, our music captures the soul of the well-defined "Roots Rock" sound that remains timeless to this day. We bring our audience a nice mix of original songs along with a selective array of covers; ranging from The Beatles to Kings of Leon. We are excited and honored to play in Hastings so, come on out and rock with us!

“Joel Mabus is a free-ranging fret-board genius and funny, deep songwriter whose warm voice, sly humor, and musicianship sweep audiences along for the ride. “

— Cornell Folk Song Society 2014

Joel Mabus was born in 1953 to a musical family. His parents played “Hillbilly music” professionally in the 1930s for WLS Barndance road shows. This pedigree was not lost on Joel. He grew up playing guitar, banjo & mandolin and singing the old-time repertoire of his family, along with a fierce interest in country blues.

Known as both a roots-based songwriter and instrumental virtuoso, Joel has toured extensively. He has played the main stage at the biggest & best folk festivals: Kerrville, Vancouver, Philadelphia, Boston, Winfield, etc.. He has been a guest several times on A Prairie Home Companion, and provides the banjo theme music for public radio’s Folk Sampler. On the club circuit, Joel has played Passim in Boston, Freight & Salvage in Berkeley and all points between.

By 1978 Mabus had his first album released, then in 1980 came the first of two LPs recorded for Flying Fish Records. In 1986 he started the Fossil Records label. His latest album is A Bird In This World, out in 2015, all original songs that take on the blues. It is his 24th solo album.

Joel is in the Detroit Music Awards Hall of Fame, and was given the inaugural “Lantern Bearer” award for career achievement by FARM, the Folk Alliance Region Midwest.

Taylor Taylor

Taylor Taylor is a 18 year old native of Lansing, MI with African American and Colombian roots. She has been cultivating her Jazzy-Pop style with classical guitar skills, warm, charismatic vocals and lyrical songwriting, which reveal her intelligence beyond her years. Highlights of her career so far have been performing in Nashville, TN for various songwriting showcases, including the Bluebird Cafe; opening for Keith Anderson, Kris Allen, Jared Lee, Pia Toscano and Radio Disney's, Shane Harper as well as releasing her self-titled EP. While Taylor stays busy with school, sports, music lessons and volunteering, her passion is to perform. Taylor is a genuine, humorous and all around great young lady.

She believes a philanthropic mind and love for music can change the hearts for those who listen.

Ralston Bowles

Long heralded as a master of putting listeners in the moment, singer/songwriter Ralston Bowles waited more than two decades before pressing any of his creations to plastic. When the Michigan native finally did release an album, it continued to be his resistance to the mainstream that set him apart, even from the many talented musicians who surround him. His albums stand as thoughtful gifts to receptive concert goers. His distinct brand of folk music is a contemporary gem that shares the social insights brought by '60s and '70s predecessors, but allows for an infusion of worldly influence and carries an undeniable personal and independent tone.

"If the song is good," Ralston said. "There's not much you can do to kill it."

Maiden Voyage

Maiden Voyage began in 2008 with two members and a handful of songs, predominantly original. Since then the all female group has grown to four with a repertoire of over forty songs. Their sound can be described as folk rock with a heavy dose of pop and tight three part harmony. They play a variety of covers from Joan Baez to Cinderella, Pink to Van Morrison. The group released a CD in 2012 and hopes to record again in the future. All members of the band live and work in the Hastings area. Colleen Acker plays guitar, sings, and writes for the band. Shari Carney plays the drums. Angela Seeber plays keyboard and sings. Melinda Smalley plays keyboard and sings.

Tony LaJoye Trio

Tony LaJoye Trio plays an eclectic mix of Pop, R&B, Jazz, and roots music. The band features West Michigan singer/songwriter and multi-instrumentalist Tony LaJoye on guitar, vocals, and steel pans, along with a rotating cast of top-notch Michigan drummers, and bass guitarists.

If Tom Waits and Ella Fitzgerald had a lovechild, it would be Moxieville—a torch-swing duo hailing from Kalamazoo, Michigan. Formed in early 2014 by partners Megan Dooley and Andrew Whiting-Moxieville combines prohibition-era swing and torch style music with early rock, soul and r&b influences. Dooley's rich, gritty, and powerfully agile vocals combined with her punchy rhythm guitar style have been described as "smooth as liquid velvet, with more kick than a shot of bourbon whiskey", and combined with Andrew Whiting's solid, uniquely thoughtful, and boldly rhythmic upright bass style- the two create a big sound with far more fun and energy than expected of an acoustic duo. Blending sharp original style, fierce whistling, and a modern approach with a classic feel- Moxieville will leave you yearning for a bygone era of music no longer found in today's auto-tuned world.

Seth & May

Michigan has, for some time now, been a deep resource for songwriters and roots musicians. Two favorites, Seth Bernard and May Erlewine, well-known to audiences as single acts, have been performing and recording together for almost six years. Before they teamed up, they each paid their dues traveling across the land playing their music and sharing stories with everyone they met. Now, they are in constant demand playing festivals all over the country and at venerable folk institutions such as the Ark in Ann Arbor and Garrison Keillor's "A Prairie Home Companion."

Already seasoned song writers, Seth and May draw from a deep well of American folk, country, blues, and soul music. May Erlewine plays guitar and violin and is a songbird reminiscent of Patsy Cline and Patty Griffin. Her songs have been recorded by artists across the country and sung in school and places of worship. This year her original song "Shine On" was sung during season 8 of "The Voice" by Sawyer Fredericks. Samuel Seth Bernard has drawn comparisons to Woody Guthrie and Neil Young as a shape shifting folk rocker, community organizer, and communicator of ideas. They harmonize their voices and instruments beautifully, believing music can bring people together and proving so at every performance. Like all the best folk musicians, they have the ability to get everyone's attention and still a room. With their bands, they can captivate and electrify an audience and ignite a dance floor.

Jen Sygit & Sam Corbin

Last year Playing at the Plaza was graced with the musical talents of Jen Sygit. This year she returns with her friend, Sam Corbin. Jen Sygit and Sam Corbin have been touring the Great Lakes region for over a decade composing songs about their travels and experiences along the way. They have both been honored with nominations for several prestigious awards across the state of Michigan and continue to spread their love of music, community and environmental sustainability through their involvement in the Earthwork Music Collective. Playing what they refer to as 'folk roots' music (a mixture of folk, Americana, blues, bluegrass and swing), Jen and Sam play original tunes as well as traditional standards which they often sing in harmony using a variety of instrumentation that includes guitar, banjo, ukulele and light electric guitar.
